Introduction
Provide background details of the work you are presenting including all information that pertains to the hypothesis of your study. The background information should be written that is addressed to the experts in the field. Do not include too much basic information. Include references for all work and information that was not uniquely produced by you or your coauthors [1]. The entire extended abstract should be at least 3 pages using the format presented in this example and Table 1, and not more than 4 pages total. A short abstract can also be submitted, but students submitting short abstracts will not be eligible for the Otto Hutzinger Student Awards.

Materials and methods
Describe in detail the equipment (Reliable Instrument Company, City, Country) used to produce the data and information presented in the abstract. The format of the extended abstract should be the exact format used in this template. The short abstract should be less than 1 page in length and may or may contain the subsection headings of the extended abstract. Abstracts using alternate formats (e.g. format, spacing, subtitles) will be rejected.

Results and discussion
Results and data may be presented in tabular or graphic form. Please see examples of completed abstracts posted on the conference website link. The data and figures must be accompanied by a detailed discussion supporting or disproving the hypothesis reported in the introduction. Provide references for any relevant information supporting your conclusions [2,3].
